The Wisconsin Seed Team:

The Wisconsin Advantage: Our extensive tissue culture program is followed by carefully controlled production and evaluation at our nationally-renowned University of Wisconsin seed farm, where varieties are monitored, tested and retested to assure clean and successful seed stocks. Then—only when they’re ready—varieties are released to the state’s grower network for careful production of top quality Wisconsin seed. That’s the Wisconsin Advantage—the nation’s strictest production standards for seed potatoes. And you can count on Wisconsin seed meeting them . . . year after year, generation after generation.
